

Chapter_9_Case_Study

March 6, 2024

The built-in function `open` takes the name of the file as a parameter and returns a file object you can use to read the file.

```
[1]: fin = open('words.txt')
```

```
[2]: fin
```

```
[2]: <_io.TextIOWrapper name='words.txt' mode='r' encoding='cp1252'>
```

`fin` is a common name for a file object used for input. The file object provides several methods for reading, including `readline`, which reads characters from the file until it gets to a newline and returns the result as a string:

```
[3]: fin.readline()
```

```
[3]: 'aa\n'
```

```
[4]: fin.readline()
```

```
[4]: 'aah\n'
```

if it's the newline character that's bothering you, we can get rid of it with the string method `strip`:

```
[5]: line = fin.readline()
>>> word = line.strip()
>>> word
```

```
[5]: 'aahed'
```

You can also use a file object as part of a for loop. This program reads `words.txt` and prints each word, one per line:

```
[6]: fin = open('words.txt')
for line in fin:
    word = line.strip()
    print(word)
```

```
aa aah aahed aahing
```
